Gambold, William (1672-1728)

According to his son writing in the preface to the first edition of John Walters's English-Welsh Dictionary), he was born in Cardigan on 10 August 1672, 'of reputable parents' who destined him for the church and gave him good schooling.

But according to Foster (Alumni Oxon.) he was eighteen, 'pauper puer,' son of William Gambold of Cardigan, when he matriculated at S. Mary Hall, Oxford, 23 May 1693. He migrated to Exeter College in 1694, but there is no record of graduation.

In 1707 he was keeping a school at Llanychaer, and on 1 December 1709 he became rector of Puncteston with Llanychaer, Pems.

At Oxford he had been a friend of Edward Lhuyd who acknowledges help given to him by Gambold in preparing his additions in Gibson's edition of Camden's Britannia.

A series of letters he wrote from Cardigan to Edward Lhuyd at Oxford between 1693 and 1697 appear here: <https://tinyurl.com/y7dde7wy>

They refer to various archaeological finds at St Dogmaels and Nevern. Unfortunately there is no indication of where in Cardigan he lived.

As early as 1707, Gambold was planning a Welsh dictionary, and this became his main occupation later on, when an accident disabled him from parochial work. It was finished in 1722, but Gambold failed to get money to publish it until 1727 as A Grammar of the Welsh Language. A second edition was published in Carmarthen in 1817, and a third in Bala in 1833.

He died 13 September 1728. His will appears here:

"To [my] eldest son, John Gambold, all that whole little Buraige of mine, together with each and every stable, Outhouses, Offices, Back-sides and Gardens, unto the same belonging, situate, lying and being in the Town of Cardigan..."

John was the son of David John and Margaret Ann George, of Maesteg, Glamorgan. He resided at St. Mary Street, Cardigan prior to the war. John served with the Royal Navy aboard HMS Charybdis, a Dido Class cruiser. On 23 October 1943, Charybdis was part of a group which had intercepted the German blockade runner Münsterland off Ushant, Brittany, when the force was attacked at night by the German 4th Torpedo Boat Flotilla. Charybdis was torpedoed by the German torpedo boats T-23 and T-27, and sank with the loss of over 460 lives off the North Coast of Brittany. John is commemorated on the Plymouth Naval Memorial, Devon.

Gibbons, David Thomas Lance Corporal, 2132, Welsh Regiment.

David was the son of Thomas and Mary Hannah Gibbons, of Castle Street, Cardigan. He enlisted at Cardigan into the 1/4th Battalion, Welsh Regiment, which was the local Territorial Battalion, attached to 159 Brigade, 53rd (Welsh) Division. The Division landed at Cape Helles, Gallipoli, on 9 August 1915, and was immediately thrown into action, spending the next few days in isolated pockets, fighting against a Turkish counter-attack during the Battle of Sari Bair, and then at the Attack on Scimitar Hill. David was killed in action during terrible fighting here on 11 August 1915. He was 23 years old, and is commemorated on the Helles Memorial, Gallipoli.

Gilchrist, Lindsay Private, 59488, Welsh Regiment.

Lindsay was born in Aberdeen in 1890 and by the outbreak of war was living in 2, Arthur Street, Newport, Monmouth. He married Evelyn Violet Williams, of 21, Northgate Terrace, Cardigan, on 3 April 1917. He had enlisted into the South Wales Borderers on 11 December 1915 and served at home before being sent to France on 10 June 1917 and was posted to the 15th Battalion, Welsh Regiment (Carmarthen Pals), which was at Ypres attached to 114 Brigade, 38th (Welsh) Division. By then the division was training in preparation for the forthcoming assault on Pilckem Ridge, which was scheduled for 31 July 1917, as part of the opening of the Passchendaele offensive. While the battalion was preparing for the offensive, on 27 July 1917, two platoons from the 15th Welsh were sent out to check the German positions but met with strong opposition and were forced to hurriedly withdraw. The Germans retaliated by hitting the front line trenches with an artillery barrage, mixing up some gas shells into the bombardment for good effect, and the battalion suffered heavy casualties as a result. Lindsay was among 24 men killed and 61 wounded during the day. The 27 year old has no known grave and is commemorated on the Ypres (Menin Gate) Memorial. He is not commemorated locally.

Gregory, Edwin Charles Private, 73271, Royal Welsh Fusiliers.

Edwin was born in 1898, son of Edwin and Mary Charles Gregory, of 22, North Road, Cardigan. He enlisted at Brecon into the army, and was posted to France in the summer of 1917, where he joined the 2nd Battalion, Royal Welsh Fusiliers. The battalion was at Ypres, attached to 19 Brigade, 33rd Division, and had been in France since the outbreak of war. Edwin probably joined the battalion as part of a draft after its ordeals at Arras, at the Battle of the Scarpe and at Bullecourt, before it headed to Ypres. Here it took part in the Battle of the Menin Road, and saw heavy fighting at Polygon Wood. Edwin was killed in action at Ypres on 28 November 1917. He was 19 years old, and is commemorated on the Tyne Cot Memorial, Belgium.

Griffiths, Benjamin Private, 200501, Welsh Regiment. [1891–1920]

Benjamin was the son of Griffith and Mary Griffith, of 20, William Street, Cardigan.
Benjamin had enlisted at Cardigan into the 1/4th Battalion, Welsh Regiment, and had served at Gallipoli, Egypt and Palestine during the war. He was invalided home at the end of 1917, and was discharged from the army as medically unfit on 14 May 1918. Benjamin never recovered from his ordeals, and died at Cardigan on 7 August 1920, aged 31. He is buried at Cardigan Cemetery.

Griffiths, Benjamin J Private, 241103, Welsh Regiment.

Benjamin was possibly the son of David and Rachel Griffiths, of Cardigan. Very little is yet known of him, but he served with the 4th Battalion, Welsh Regiment, later transferring to the 5th Welsh. Benjamin doesn't look to have served overseas, and died on 3 March 1920, aged 21. He is buried at Rhymney Cemetery. (There was also a Benjamin John Griffiths, son of Elizabeth Davies, of the Cardigan Arms, who had served with the 4th Welsh, but he survived the war, being discharged from the army on 4 July 1919. He possibly died at Llanelli in 1922, aged 35).

Griffiths, Daniel James SO John & Ellen, 13 Castle St. [Cenotaph*. Lived in Swansea pre war, killed 12.07.1916, aged 29 yrs.

WI was Mary Ellen Tierney (1887–1916) 2 dau Eileen Mary Griffiths (1909–) and Tessybell Maud Griffiths (1911–1962)

Griffiths, Daniel James Private, 29032, Welsh Regiment.

Daniel was the son of John and Ellen Griffiths, of 13, Castle Street, Cardigan. He married Mary Ellen Tierney in 1909, and the couple resided at Cardigan and then Swansea, where they had raised their three children. Daniel enlisted at Swansea into the Welsh Regiment, and was posted to France where he joined the 2nd Battalion, Welsh Regiment, which was attached to 3 Brigade, 1st Division. He must have joined the battalion early in 1916, and joined the Battalion at Loos. The 2nd Welsh had reached Albert on 10 July 1916 after a six days march from the Loos area, and took up billets in Albert. Daniel was a member of 15 Platoon, who were billeted in a house in the town, when on 12 July a shell hit the building, killing 6 men and wounding 21 others. Daniel was amongst the dead, and is buried at Albert Communal Cemetery Extension, France. He was 29 years old. His widow, Mary had died in 1916, and their two children were orphaned.

Griffiths, Evan Rowland Private, 200662, Welsh Regiment.

Evan was born at Aberystwyth in 1887, the son of Evan and Margaret Griffiths. The family had moved back to Margaret's native Cardigan prior to 1911, where she ran the family confectionary and tobacconists at Pendre, Cardigan. Evan was married, and had lived at Carmarthen for several years prior to the war, working as a Clerk at the Barracks. He enlisted at Cardigan into the 1/4th Battalion, Welsh Regiment, which was the local Territorial Battalion, attached to 159 Brigade, 53rd (Welsh) Division. The Division landed at Cape Helles, Gallipoli, on 9 August 1915, and was immediately thrown into action, spending the next few days in isolated pockets, fighting against a Turkish counter-attack during the Battle of Sari Bair, and then at the Attack on Scimitar Hill. The Division remained here throughout the coming months, and suffered severe losses in manpower strength during the great November 1915 blizzard on Gallipoli, when its total strength was reduced to less than that of a full-strength Brigade. On 11 December 1915 the Division was evacuated to Mudros, and by 23 December 1915 were moved to Egypt. They remained on the Suez Canal Defences for the next twelve months, where it took part in operations against the Sultan of Darfur, and in March 1917 took part in the advance into Palestine. Evan was killed here, at the First Battle of Gaza, on 26 March 1917. He was 29 years old, and is commemorated on the Jerusalem Memorial, Israel.

Griffiths, John Private, 5958, Royal Warwickshire Regiment.

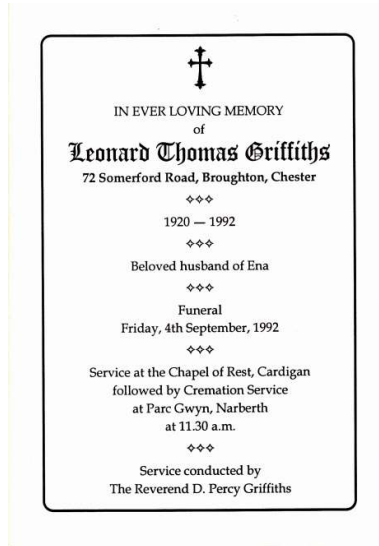

John was the son of Thomas and Mary Griffiths, of 27, Castle Street, Cardigan, and worked as a butcher in Cardigan prior to the war. He had enlisted at Cardigan into the 4th Battalion, Welsh Regiment, with the regimental number 2528, and was posted to the 2/7th Battalion, Royal Warwickshire Regiment. The battalion was attached to 182 Brigade, 61st Division, and on 21 May 1916 landed in France. The Division moved to the Fromelles area, taking over the line from the 38th (Welsh) Division, who were moving to the Somme. The Battle of the Somme had begun on 1 July 1916, and the British had made no real inroads into the German defences there, so it was decided to make a feint attack at Fromelles, to attempt to keep the Germans from sending reinforcements to the Somme. On 19 July 1916 the 61st Division, and the 5th Australian Division made a suicidal assault against the strongly held German defences at Fromelles, and thousands of men were needlessly mown down. John was one of the dead that day, and was 32 years old. The regimental chaplain wrote a condolence letter to his sisters in Cardigan, stating that John had been buried and a cross erected on his grave. Sadly John is now another of the missing, and is commemorated on the Loos Memorial, France. He was thought to have possibly been one of the men buried at Fromelles in the mass grave, which was found several years ago, who had not so far been identified, but as the majority of the bodies recovered were of Australian soldiers, this is not likely.

Griffiths, Tom Private, 2174, Welsh Regiment.
Tom was born in 1897, the son of Daniel and Mary Ann Griffiths, of the Saddlers Arms, Cardigan. He enlisted at Cardigan into the 1/4th Battalion, Welsh Regiment, which was the local Territorial Battalion, attached to 159 Brigade, 53rd (Welsh) Division. The Division landed at Cape Helles, Gallipoli, on 9 August 1915, and was immediately thrown into action, spending the next few days in isolated pockets, fighting against a Turkish counter-attack during the Battle of Sari Bair, and then at the Attack on Scimitar Hill. Tom was killed in action here on 10 August 1915, aged 18. He has no known grave, and is commemorated on the Helles Memorial, Gallipoli.
